Why are you running an MGEC office?

Unions are an invaluable tool for employees to communicate with their employers. It is important to me, as a member of MGEC, to see this tool used as effectively and transparently as possible. There is a need for more communication from MGEC to new and existing members. Also, there need to be more mechanisms for MGEC members to give feedback to the union especially when it comes to contract negotiations. As an engineer employed by a data-driven agency, I will apply the passion, dedication, and commitment to data-driven negotiation used as an air permit engineer to a director position with MGEC.
